It was at the end of the school year, and a school teacher was getting gifts from her ten-year-old students. The first gift was from a boy student. His father owned a flower shop. The teacher shook the boy's box and said, "What is it? Hmm...Let me guess. Some flowers?" "That's right," the boy said, "but how did you know?" "Oh, just a wild guess," she said. The next gift was from a girl. Her parents owned a candy shop. The teacher shook her gift and said, "What is it? Hmm...Let me guess. A box of candy?" "That's right, but how did you know?" asked the girl. "Oh, just a wild guess," said the teacher. The last gift was from another boy student. His father had a liquor store. The teacher shook his box, and she saw some leakage. She touched the leakage with her finger and tasted it. "Is it wine?" she asked. "No, it's not. Guess again!" the boy replied. The teacher touched the leakage with her finger again and tasted it. "Is it champagne?" she asked. "No, it's not. Guess again!" the boy replied. The teacher took one more taste and said, "OK. I give up! What is it??" "With great joy, the boy replied, "It's a puppy!"
